Around the Square

By SEWALL CLARK.

Speaking of apes (Who? Me?), there's a certain story around town that we are trying to get. So, we are told, is the Los Angeles Herald Express trying. But the news source is holding back temporarily for reasons too complicated to explain right now. When the story does break, here's hoping we will stand at least a 50-50 chance.

Situations like this are why a newsman never has to use scissors to keep his fingernails trimmed.

Naming the Herald Express brings to mind our Sierra Madre acquaintances, Arthur Hewitt and his wife, Edna, who have contributed on many occasions to the Sierra Madre News. Art, a former editor of the News, now is a reporter for the Herald Express whose by-line stories for that paper make page one more scooptimes than we can count.

Wonder if he's the gent who's after that story.

Along the shoptalk line, many thanks to long-time Sierra Madream of the Pasadena Star-News for the letter he put under the office door last week. The letter was from Harlan Ware with a Foote-Note added and the whole thing amounted to such a solid pat on the back that everyone in our News shop got his work done in record-breaking time last week.

Although it's old news to most of us, some of the newcomers to Sierra Madre might like to know that Harlan is one of many from this area who make great big chunks of that beautiful doughyramie in the writing business. The writer of radio's "One Man's Family," he is back in the Saturday Evening Post again and the movies still are showing pictures taken from his novels. At present he has established residence in Carmel for Ruth and himself and their kids—Dick, who's in the Navy; Joy, who is in college, and Ciji, who's in high school—but in his profession they can live anywhere in the world and still do business. Nice work if you can get it.

There are two words in the above paragraph that burn us. They are "this area." Technically the words are correct, but

First Show in Library's New 'Movie' Series Draws Crowds

By actual count, 225 adults and children good-naturedly accepted the crowded, standing-room-only conditions in the Sierra Madre library's Community Room last Thursday night in order to see an educational sound film entitled "In the Beginning."

The occasion marked the first use of the room's new audiovisual equipment, gift of the Friends of the Library, a local group promoting the library's general use as well as its cultural advantages.

The attractive meeting room at present has a seating capacity of 100. Its potential capacity will be 150 when funds are available for an additional 50 chairs. Contributions of any amount may be sent to George L. Russell, 514 Santa Anita Court.

The film, sometimes described as "The Grand Canyon Story," was introduced by Lee Shippey, program chairman of the Friends of the Library which is furnishing and equipping the Community Room and plans to sponsor its programs of cultural and educational interest.

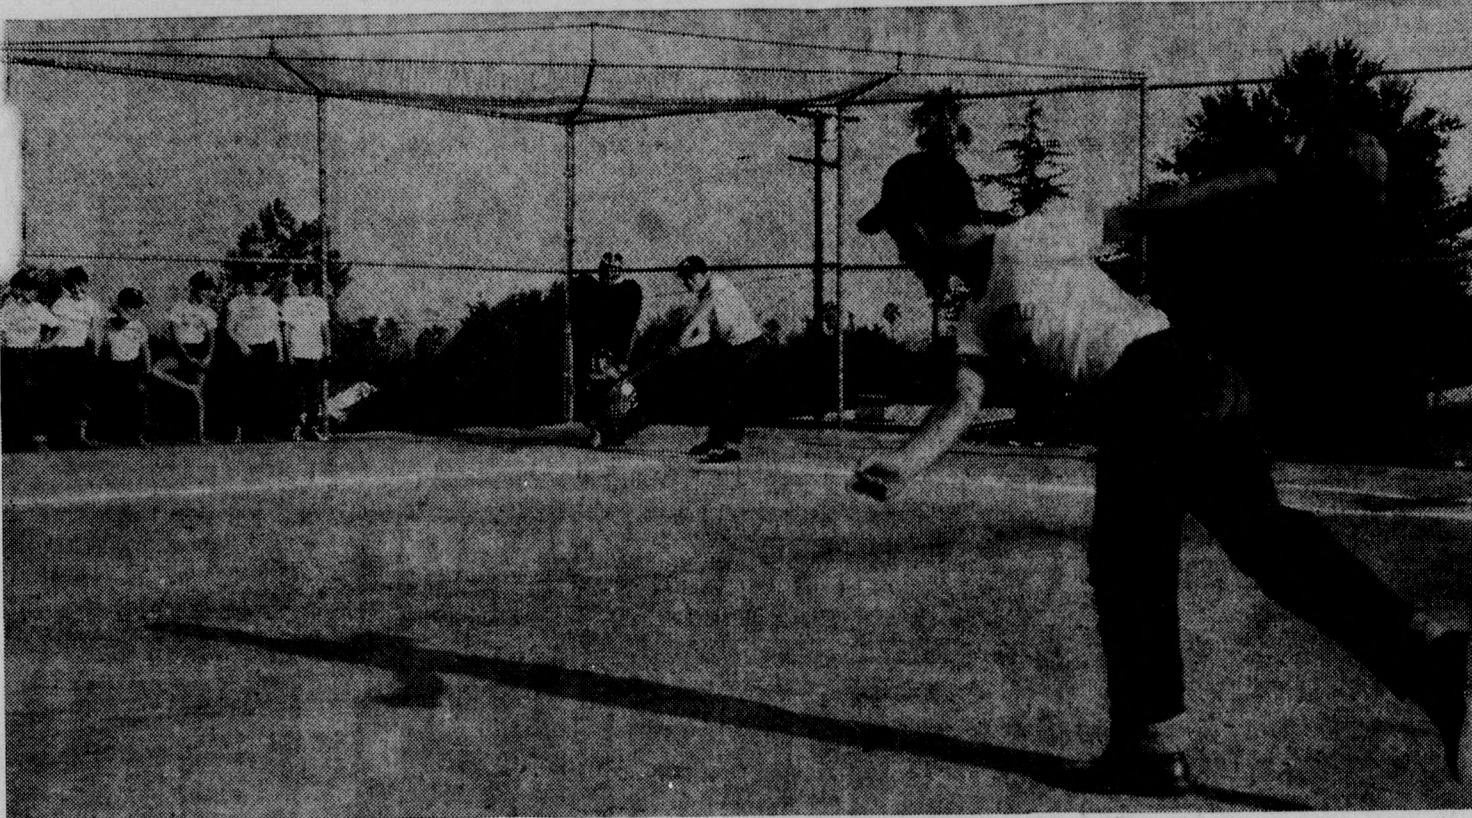

The new sound projector was operated by Raymond D. Andrews, who headed the committee which supervised purchase of the equipment.

After the finish of the motion picture members of the Friends of the Library board adjourned to the home of Mrs. Ralph Jones, 205 E. Orange Grove, for a regular meeting at which Mrs. Stanley Fish presided.

Mrs. Bernard Tumulty was newly appointed membership chairman. Her assisting committee includes Mrs. John Reece, Mrs. L. W. Lisle and Mrs. James Nixon. Mrs. Tumulty replaces Mrs. George Osborn.

Spurred by the enthusiastic response to the recent addition to the Community Room's program facilities. Friends of the

Supervised Recreation Program Progresses Here

IT MAY BE JUST ANOTHER WARM-UP for a kids' baseball game, but what represents is the heartening fact that Sierra Madre is developing its recreation program under the directorship of Philip Mitchell to such an extent that headlines soon may be reporting more sports activities than police blotter items about youngsters in trouble. Because it has been proven many times to taxpayers that a city's supervised recreation program costs less than the bill for juvenile delinquency, and also because of the love for kids in general, Sierra Madreams now are showing every sign of sustaining a

ED LA LONE BAGS 140-POUND BUCK

With the opening of the deer season Aug. 6, Edward La Lone, 26 S. Baldwin, bagged a 140-pound buck at 6:10 a.m. With him in the Sulphur Spring area were Bill Guardia and Ed's brother, Earl, who witnessed the 450-yard shot.

Last year all three hunters got their bucks plus a black bear. This year they say the deer seem to be in fine shape—and so are the rattlers.

Special deer hunts have been announced by the Fish and Game Commission for certain dates in September, October, and November. The hunter's permit fee is $5 and all applications must be mailed to the Department of Fish and Game, 926 J Street, Sacramento.

Fred La Lone of the Sierra Madre Post Office has left several maps and folders at Arnold's Hardware store that will supply detailed information concerning the deer hunts.

Little Leaguers Go to Bat for City's "Let's Play Ball" Spirit

The Little Coast League games scheduled for tomorrow evening are Hollywood vs. Oakland at Sierra Madre School, and Sacramento against San Diego at Sierra Mesa. The games begin at 6 o'clock.

The league is only one of many groups directed by the Sierra Madre Recreation Commission, headed by Philip Mitchell, and sponsored by the city and public schools.

Under the enthusiastic direction of Mitchell, who also teaches sixth grade at Sierra Madre School, the recreation program for all ages, has been enlarged to encompass a wide range of activities in the last four years.

A program of crafts and games in the Sierra Madre Park highlighted with special events, movies, and swims, has kept many Sierra Madre boys and girls occupied during the summer.

A two-week day camp at Sierra Madre Villa Park, beginning with breakfast at 7 a.m., has been a pleasant camp experience for elementary-age children for the last three summers. The early morning program, concluding with a swim at noon, was introduced by Mitchell, who takes a personal interest in his projects, such as starting the fires in the park stoves at 6 a.m.

Day Campers are scheduled for a trip to the Griffith Park Zoo tomorrow, concluding the first week for younger children.

The Sierra Madre Community Band also is in its third year, being another project of the Recreation Department. A series of summer concerts in the park are the result of cooperation between city and school employees, band members, local committeemen and Sierra Madre merchants. It is hoped that local organizations will sponsor an occasional winter band concert.

A new development now under consideration is the possibility of joint use of the gymnasium in the Sierra Madre Congregational Church by various community groups. Use of this excellent facility would make it possible to further develop the scope of the Recreation Department.

In addition, Mitchell and his department are seeking some way to assist in the newly organized teen-ager group, the Semanons, by determining what can be done to provide equipment within present budget means.

With the organization of a tennis club, headed by committeeman Peter Cowell, W. J. Over, and Jim Holt, an active group sparked considerable interest in the resurfacing of the City Park tennis courts. Credit should also be given to Richter Brothers, and the Industrial Asphalt Company, who kept faith with the city although the job turned out to be a far bigger project than anticipated.

Square dancing, movies at City School, and winter holiday programs also are supervised by Mitchell, who expands his program as the needs arise and

City Observes 'No Shopping' Period for Liscomb Funeral

The downtown of Sierra Madre closed its doors for 30 minutes Tuesday morning from 10 to 10:30 o'clock. The place was almost deserted.

A block or two farther west, however, parked cars jammed the curbs in all directions around the Congregational Church because of the townsfolk who were attending funeral services for Andrew Emery Liscomb.

Few people, of course, have ever known him by that name. To most, he had but one name and that was Andy. He was "The Andy" of Sierra Madre, the man who still had the accent of way-down Maine even though he had lived here for 34 years. He was 57.

To report that Andy had the Union Oil service station at the intersection of Baldwin Ave. and Sierra Madre Blvd. would be the most unnecessary bit of local information ever written.

Andy was a native of Seal Harbor, Maine, where he once was the personal chauffeur for Henry Ford, Sr., who told him: "Andy, if ever you want a job with the Ford Motor Company anywhere in the world I'll get it for you."

But Andy, with all his strength, had a certain shyness—or perhaps it was the quiet independence of Maine folk—and that was why he got a job on his own when he moved to Los Angeles. It was with the Ford plant, and several years later when the original Henry, himself, walked in he went over to Andy and asked: "Why didn't you let me know?"

Andy died in one of the happiest ways that any man can die. He was in congenial company playing one of his favorite sports—a thing called golf. He was on the fourth tee at the Brookside course in Pasadena with Fred Klink and Ed Keating of Sierra Madre, and Fred Heinzmann of Hollywood. It was 7:05 a.m. Sunday and when his time came he went fast.

Big Storm Brewing Around Proposed Home for Girls

TENNIS CLUB PLANS TOURNAMENT SUNDAY

The tennis tournament sponsored by the Sierra Madre Tennis Club will keep its schedule Sunday morning at 10 o'clock provided enough necessary equipment such as posts and nets are installed on the newly surfaced courts by then, as Peter Cowell, secretary of the club, believes it will be.

All applications with the $1 entry fee should be sent to him at 109 E. Grandview Ave. by tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. All fees are used to help defray the cost of trophies.

40 Musicians' Band Concert Tomorrow

The Sierra Madre Community Band will present a concert in the park tomorrow evening beginning at 8 o'clock. Roger Gray will direct the group, and conduct another "Lead the Band" contest, when three amateur directors will be given a chance to wield the baton over the 40 musicians.

Among the numbers scheduled are "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Light Cavalry Overture"; "Reminiscences of Tchaikovsky" includes parts of "Romeo and Juliet," "1812 Overture" and "Marche Slav." According to Paul Landwehr, band chairman, many numbers will be repeated because an exchange concert with Pomona has been postponed until September, for which the band rehearsed.

The band will perform at the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona Sept. 24, representing Sierra Madre for the third consecutive year. It will play on the outdoor stage at 8 p.m. Director Gray has conducted the band on all three occasions, and hopes that with the Saturday night spot, many Sierra Madreams will be able to attend.

90 Persons Protest 'Boarding House' in Residential Zone

A petition containing 90 signatures protesting use of the property at 72 W. Alegria for a girls' home was presented to City Council at the City Hall last Tuesday night. Protests resulted from the application to the Council two weeks ago by Bethany Home for Girls, Inc., a non-profit corporation, for permission to use the building as a "home for girls seeking employment."

For the past year the building has been vacant; formerly it was operated for many years by Mrs. Elsie Gibson as a home for Mexican children, under the auspices of the Plaza Community Center.

The petitioners said that a home for girls in an R-1 (single family) zone would be detrimental to the surrounding property, and contrary to the public peace, safety and welfare. Their objections were voiced from the floor by Sidney A. Brown, 307 N. Baldwin; Foster Buckner, 62 Olive, and Tom E. Willis, 48 W. Alegria.

Willis said his property was within 30 feet of the proposed home and that he bought his house because it was in a single family area. But the girls' home, he said, appeared to be like a boarding house.

Comparing the Bethany venture with the children's home on the same site managed by Mrs. Gibson, Buckner said this new organization, though he supported its high ideals, had little experience, being formed only a year ago by a group of individuals not definitely connected with any welfare society.

At present, he said, the home did not qualify for a license from the State Department of Social Welfare, did not come under its supervision, and consequently it could be assumed if delinquent girls applied for admission, they may be accepted.

He stated that the new zoning ordinance would not countenance operation of such a home in a single family zone. Also opposed to it, he said, were members and past members of the PTA, and persons active in youth guidance, among whom were PTA President Mrs. Claude Brown, J. A. Dewar, Severin Sorensen, and many others.

Mrs. Brown told the News she thought the City could not reasonably grant the Bethany Home a permit, inasmuch as Council recently refused a request to operate a boys' home here, and there should be no discrimination. She said she was expressing her own opinion, not that as a representative of the PTA.

City Administrator Lawrence Bevington reported that the Building Department, the County Health Department, and Fire Chief Heasley all recommended repairs to the building in the interests of health and safety.

Monte C. Fiscus, attorney for the Bethany Corporation, said all repairs would be made to "have the home in splendid shape, and keep it that way, so that it would always be a credit to Sierra Madre."

He pointed out that the building was used for a children's home long before the existence of any zoning law here, and that it should be allowed to remain.

Registrations Still Are Being Taken for Young Day Campers

Registrations still are being accepted at City School, 141 W. Highland, for fourth, fifth and sixth graders who wish to attend the Day Camp program sponsored by Sierra Madre's recreation department.

The first week of the camp was for second and third graders at which time 32 children responded to the 7 a.m. call to breakfast at Sierra Madre Villa Park.

The tuition is $4.50, which includes breakfast, transportation, a daily swim, and craft materials for the entire week. Philip Mitchell, recreation director, is in charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. Joyce Gallaher, Junior assistants are Tarb Draeger, Frank Dane, and Carol Draeger.

Campers should bring a plate, knife, fork and spoon, towel and swimming suit; also a red cap for all less experienced swimmers, who are kept in shallow waters.

Breakfast menus include fruit juices, bacon and eggs, toast and milk; varied with hot cakes and bacon on alternate days.

Campers are met by bus at approximately 6:30 a.m., and returned at about noon. The bus route begins at Sierra Madre and Michillinda Bldvs., goes north on Michillinda to Grandview Ave., east on Grandview to Canon Ave., south on Canon to Sierra Madre Blvd., and west to the Villa Park. The mid-day route is the same in reverse.

It was originally planned that Day Camp would conclude the summer recreation program, but Director Mitchell has scheduled three more days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the following week, for three climaxed days to finish the program. Each day will be a special event in the City Park, and each one promises to be especially appealing to the youngsters.

DOTTIE'S BACK!

Dorothy D. Underwood, Dottie to you, is back at the same old stand—Sierra Madre News stand, that is. Once the advertising manager here, from 1949 to 1953, she strayed to other newspapers only to discover that once you work for the News, it's something that gets you, in more ways than one.

Besides her 16 years' experience in selling and servicing display advertising, she has lived here since 1938 and knows just about everybody in town. She gets the D in her name because her mother and dad are Sally and Alfred James Dewey whose work in the field

"Cider Creek" Discovered Here

By MARTHA COUTANT

Hidden away in the teeming metropolis of Sierra Madre lies a little known spot of peace and tranquility—the unincorporated area of Cider Creek, population two. Here the two "residents" at 32 Park St., Bob Vis and Bob Strieter, refute the oft-repeated accusation that today's youth have no respect for the aged.

The two Bobs have great respect for the past.

In Cider Creek they have constructed a one-room house that looks like a replica of a homesteader's shack from an ancient Tom Mix movie. Having haunted antique shops on a limited budget, back yards, and anyone's rubbish pile, the boys have furnished the place down to the last detail.

They refer to their finds as antiques, and when they point out an "ancient" treasure that is dated the year of your own birth it's something of a shock. One Bob is the son of Mrs.

Irene Vis, 32 Park St.; the other is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strieter, 375 Auburn Ave. Both are 16 years old and will enter the 11th grade next month.

The boys spent a year constructing the home, besides going to school and working at part-time jobs.

"I'm sorry it's finished, though," says Bob Vis, who knows that the fun is in the doing.

A handmade quilt covers the iron bed, which vies for prominence with the pot-bellied stove. Oil lamps, dippers, and cooking utensils hang on the walls and rafters, and rag rugs cover the floor. The front door, with porcelain doorknob, came from the Vis house, which is known to be one of the first houses in Sierra Madre.

But Mrs. Vis doesn't object to the loss of a door knob from inside the house. She's proud of the boys' work. Her cut is an occasional egg from Cider Creek farm, plus a reasonable assurance that the boys are doing something truly constructive.

Two laying hens and several banties occupy the neat hen houses. There's also a corn field that was planted with the aid of an old cultivator, and a few potatoes, carrots, and one onion.

"All our antiques work," says Bob V. "We've made cider in the cider press, cooked breakfast on the stove, and the only light is from coal oil lamps."

The water pipe in the front yard is disguised to resemble a hand pump.

"It would be embarrassing to have anything modern on the place," Mrs. Vis explains understandingly.

The boys' antiques actually have little monetary value, since most date from the turn of the century, or later. But to these teen-agers, they represent an era that is past. Rather than merely assembling worldly goods, the boys connect each piece with its history, and they honor most items in the names

Editor's Note: The opinions expressed in Mr. Shippey's column are not necessarily those of the editors and publishers of the NEWS. If you disagree with Mr. Shippey, who asks, "What Do You Think?", please address your letters to this paper or to Mr. Shippey. Naturally, we cannot use letters which are abusive or unsigned. We not only invite, but encourage you to use our "Letters to the Editor" column.

Wonder if those who dream up cost-of-living indexes consider sales taxes? Now, I hear, a 1 per cent county sales tax is in the offing. Is that one of those clever ways of bringing in a few million dollars "without raising taxes"? We're used to the dear old scheme of "lowering" the tax rate—after hiking up the valuation. What this country needs is a return to sanity, since a return to simplicity is impossible. Today the grandson of the man who used to ponder long before spending $100 for a horse and buggy feels he has to have a motor car costing around $3000, and doesn't hesitate as long. Why should he, when the finance company makes it so easy? Of course, we can't go back to the horse and buggy age and don't wish to, but a return to going without things we can't afford would do all of us good. Government of all kinds steadily costs more and more, but so does everything else. It's human nature to charge all the traffic will bear, and the average American never kicks about the price if he's got it. At a roadside beanery the other day I paid 85 cents (plus tax) for a sandwich and a coke, plus some other junk I didn't want and didn't eat. Scotch though I am, if half of us would quit buying what we can't afford and don't need, a lot of things would come down to where we could afford them—and maybe even the politicians would get into the trend and try to give us full value for both our direct and indirect taxes.

Two hundred twenty-five persons crowded the Community Room of the Public Library last Thursday evening to see the first program of the Friends of the Library put on for the public. The children had to sit on the floor and many adults were standing, but everyone seemed happy. We need that kind of community gatherings, where we cannot only see and hear things worth while, and free to all, but get better acquainted. There are lots of people in this town I, for one, would like to

REPORTS THE
WASHINGTON NEWS

"WOMEN'S PLACE"

It seems about time that I report to you something of the feminine side of Congress and Washington.

This may still be a man's world, but women in modern America have a wider range of choice in arranging their lives than any women in history. There have never been such opportunities for women as there are in the United States today, and American women have won this position by their merit, their intelligence, their native intuition and their graciousness.

We who work and live here in Washington, seeing some of the outstanding women of our time, are proud of the fact that this great Republican Administration has recognized the service, the merit and the great potential of American women by appointing more women to top government positions than have been appointed by any administration in history.

It is a fact recognized by all of us that credit for the election of the Eisenhower Administration belongs largely to the women, who in 1952, carried on the Great Crusade—demanding from their government and its elected officials the things they value most highly in their homes and families, the things that have built America's greatness—sound spiritual values, honor and integrity.

From the time Jeanette Rankin in 1917 was elected to Congress, 52 women have served in the House, and 9 in the Senate. Several have served on the Cabinet, several as Ambassadors, and others as Governors or Judges. There are now 17 women serving in the Congress, the greatest number yet.

Mrs. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio, elected in 1940 to fill the unexpired term of her deceased husband, has pioneered in measures primarily affecting people, especially women and children. These measures concern social, hygienic, educational and especially nursing fields. A recent award among many given to Mrs. Bolton was the William Freeman Snow Award for Distinguished Service to Humanity. And recently the Washington Pilgrimage, a know better, and whatever makes us better acquainted and more neighborly is good for all of us.

I'm glad our administration is considering reversing itself on the China question. It's mighty hard to sell good ideas to anyone you refuse to talk to.

religious society, while awarding President Eisenhower the distinction of "Lay Churchman of the Year" named Mrs. Bolton as "Lay Churchwoman of the Year," thus adding another expression of the widespread spiritual resurgence sweeping the nation. Mrs. Bolton is mother of three sons, one of whom has just been elected to Congress, the only "mother and son" combination ever to serve in the Congress.

The sponsor of the "Equal Rights Amendment," Mrs. Katharine St. George of New York, is now in her fifth consecutive term in the House. She has served brilliantly and yet graciously. I recall a rather vicious attack on the Administration being effectively turned aside and completely demolished by a very sweetly expressed correction by Mrs. St. George, of the alleged facts in the case. Mrs. St. George is a mother and, although she doesn't look it, a grandmother.

Mrs. Cecil M. Harden of Indiana, who made one of the seconding speeches for the nomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon at the 1952 Convention, is one of the straightest-thinking, most profound students in the House of Representatives. She is now serving her fourth term in the Congress and, like Mrs. St. George, is both a mother and grandmother.

Ruth Thompson of Michigan, re-elected for her third term, had a brilliant record as a judge in Michigan. During World War II, she distinguished herself in the civilian personnel branch of the Adjutant General's office, both in Washington and in Frankfurt, Germany.

"Dean" of the women now serving, Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, sponsor of the GI Bill of Rights, was elected to Congress in 1925, and has the distinction of holding public office longer than any other woman in the United States Congress.

Mrs. Margaret Stitt Church of Illinois, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Wellesley, who earned her Master's Degree at Columbia, was a consulting psychologist prior to succeeding her husband in Congress. She is now serving her third term and is a mother of three children.

The Senator from Maine, Margaret Chase Smith, won her first seat in 1948 after having served in the House nine years. She was a successful business executive and recipient of numerous awards for outstanding achievement, notably that of the National Press Club in 1948 and the Associated Press in 1948 and 1949.

Here we have mentioned just a very few of the thousands of able women who have served or are now serving our government. We could mention many others about whom you are already well informed, such as Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare; Jean Fuller of California, Director of Women's Activities for Civil Defense; Carol Arth of California, executive of the State Department; Ruth Shipley of California, just retiring at Director of the Passport Division of the State Department; Claire Boothe Luce, Ambassador to Italy; the nine other women members of Congress, most of whom are mothers, and Mrs. Joseph Farington, the first woman delegate from Hawaii.

Among the top women of the nation, Mamie Eisenhower, our most gracious First Lady, who greeted Ben Hiestand with a warm friendly "hello!" at her big tea for wives of members and ex-members of Congress, looked the picture of health when Ben said, "Despite these four or five hundred greetings, you look just fine."

The First Lady said, "That's the way I feel." And we might remark that as a distinguished First Lady, there never was a finer one.

Women make women's place—the home. But whether you mothers serve our nation in the limelight of national affairs or in the love of the home, you serve her well. So long as the families of America stand strong, so America stands strong.

Here's to the mothers! God bless them!

With BOB BROGGER

Civil War returns to Gilmore Field come this Monday, Aug. 15 through Sunday, the 21st. It's the lucky Hollywood Stars playing host to the Los Angeles Angels in an important seven-game series. The two arch foes have met twice before this season—with each club coping a series. The Twinkles, who won the last meeting, 6-1, own a 7-6 edge in the fight for the coveted Sheriff Biscailuz Trophy, which symbolizes the city championship.

There has been one change made in the original schedule. The Wednesday, Aug. 17, game has been moved up to Monday, Aug. 15. This means that Wednesday is an off-day instead of the usual Monday.

With four weeks remaining in the campaign (the season closes Sunday, Sept. 11), the lucky Stars come into the stretch with one big advantage. They play at home the bulk of the time, and after looking at their home record this year, they ought to do pretty well.

The Angels are a different club from the one the Stars met last time. They have been strengthened by the addition of a couple of young outfielders—Gale Wade and Solly Drake—while Manager Bob Sheffing has come up with a young starting quartet headed by George Piktuzis and Don Elston.

We are going to go along with the Angels in this series and say that they'll win five of the seven games.

Stan Musial believes he'll be in the thick of the fight for the National League batting crown before the season is over. He believes the title this year will be won with a figure of about .330 or not much higher. Musial is a cinch for at least 30 homers, and 100 or more RBIs. If he can win another batting title he'll have seven which will tie Roger Hornsby's career mark. A man named Hans Wagner holds the National League record with eight.

Well I think it's about time for a little prediction. I pick the Sacramento Solons to overcome the Los Angeles Angels and take over first place in the Sierra Madre Little Coast League. Former manager of the Sierra Madre Softball team, Ed Wodrich, is now pilot of the hustling Sacramento crew. Ed took the place of Henry Nuetzel who went to Europe. Don't tell anybody, but I think there's a rumor going around that Ed's gunning for Casey Stengel's job.

The life work of most people consists in making a living—and it's surprising how few experts there are in the business.

A question period will follow. Attorney Darius Johnson also will answer questions and direct discussion on the league's sponsored "School Construction Economy Bill."

The delegates will discuss the future role of the league in the fight against smog.

Proceeds of the Y's Menettes' Rummage Sale will be used to keep the Y operating without a deficit throughout the year, and an invitation is extended to all members of the Sierra Madre area to donate rummage for this benefit.

It is hard to find a person bad enough not to contemplate reforming at some future date.

SIERRA MADRE NEWS-3

CIVIL DEFENSE ADMINISTRATION PRESENTS BOOKLET ABOUT RADIOACTIVE FALLOUT

Continuing its campaign to educate Americans on how to protect themselves against the threat of fallout in a nuclear attack, the Federal Civil Defense Administration has published a new booklet which provides detailed instructions on how individuals and families may save themselves, according to Dr. Daniel D'Arcy, Sierra Madre's assistant CD director.

More than 2,000,000 copies of the public booklet, entitled "What You Should Know About Radioactive Fallout," PA-7, are being distributed throughout the nation. In addition, they may be purchased from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for 10 cents.

This is the second in a series of FCDA publications designed to reduce the "mystery" surrounding fallout in the public mind, to put the threat in its proper perspective, and to show that there are simple precautions which can save lives. The Agency on May 22 announced distribution of the first publication of the series, a pamphlet entitled "Facts About Fallout," of which 3,000,000 copies were made available.

The latest publication supplements the first by providing more detailed information and instructions and, like the pamphlet, is presented in simple, readable style.

Here the booklet says: "There is a defense against radioactive fallout. It is not complicated, nor expensive. It is something you can do, and it will pay dividends in lives saved. Actually, defense against fallout is like preventive medicine. If you take certain basic precautions you can escape the effects of radiation from fallout, even if you should be exposed to it."

The booklet concludes: "Now that you have read this book you know that fallout is not the mysterious killer you may have been led to believe. You know what it can do and its limitations and how to protect yourself. But this knowledge will be of little value unless you do something about it."

"If you prepare your home and family, help educate others, and most of all, volunteer for Civil Defense, you will be ready for the prompt effective action that could mean the difference between life and death in an emergency."

Leisure time is the finished product of greater efficiency.

Scouts' Mule Train Everybody but Burros Has Fun On Sierra Trek by Troop 373

By MAGGIE ASCHER.

Seven sad-eyed, sway-backed burros, when traced to their hideout in Sequoia, consented to give their wandering reporter an interview on their most recent—and jolting—experience while transporting the goods of Sierra Madre Boy Scout Troop 373 through the wilds of the Sierras. Rosie, spokesman of this intrepid group of burden-bearers, graciously offered her account of this seventh annual trek through the back country of Sequoia to Hamilton Lake.

"Really, now, 32 miles is a little too far to carry things for 15 fellows with such appetites"—a surprising statement in view of the fact that Rosie had consistently maintained the lead, while the rest of the team groaned and struggled mightily in its efforts to keep pace with her on the rugged trail.

It also was a surprise to those who knew her as the Rosie who had to be pushed and pulled up this same trail on previous trips.

When questioned in regard to her sudden change of tactics, she shrugged a tail. "I was able to get away with a lot in the old days . . . I always think of them as my salad days . . . But Celtil Touchon and Morgan Van Tauney were a match for any burro on this trip! After all, seven years, seven annual trips, with Boy Scouts is nothing to be heaved at!"

We left her chomping in a meditative manner on a succulent bit of the local fauna and strolled across a few rocks toward a petite charmer who coyly wagged her ears and said: "I'm Lucy."

Lucy had earned the reputation—unfairly, she maintained—of being too slow. Also, she had broken open and eaten a box of Jello, between meals.

"I merely ate the Jello in hopes of that quick spurt of energy should the emergency arise," she grumbled petulantly. "Git goin'! Git goin'! That's all I heard from Bill and Sub. Bill Stanley and Sumner (Sub) Nash, in charge of Lucy on this trip, stoutly affirmed that their favorite was Lucy, but they wanted to keep up with the rest of the caravan. Lucy modestly demurred, having been the bearer of 12 dozen eggs. No one had really given her the credit due for getting all those frail objects down the rigorous haul known as Seven-Mile Hill—without fracturing one cackleberry. Naturally, what credit she earned from the boys was for her inspired running while she carried the full load of delicate breakfast goodies.

Next contact—a couple of real quaint four-legged characters who go (reluctantly) under the titles of Smokey and Muley. The latter was sometimes known as "The Lonely Ones," although not even his "owner" during the trip, John Meyer, could discover exactly why.

Smokey gave his part of the saga in a sitting position, his usual pose. He was still smoking with indignation and resentment for having been trussed up with the heaviest burden of the crew (just look at that Lucy with her little bundle of eggs) while Queenie, built like a battleship, toted a mere 65 pounds worth of tents.

"I had two lads to tote for," roared old Smokey, "Mike and Paul—and they had the best appetites. And these guys have not gotten really hep about dehydrated food. They still think everything worth eating comes in cans."

"It's all in the game, Smoke, so quit the grumbling. Next time they come through here you might get the tents—and someone else might decide to bring his piano so he can get in a little practice . . . and I'll get that!"

Queenie's interruption was typical. She had provided comedy relief on the trail by emphatically refusing to stop and gape at the scenery when ordered to halt by John Meyer. She had merely increased her speed to full gallop, thus increasing Meyer's speed and the vehemence of his commands to "Stop! Whoa! Halt!"

For the first mile, that is. By the time Queenie came to the desired halt, the command was being given—desperately and sparingly—in a whisper. Meyer had done his mile.

The only animal to use the time-honored activity ascribed to mules was Pat. However, Pat indulged in this display of high kicking horseplay just once. It happened when the "mule kids" were forcibly removed from the green pastures they had discovered the moment they arrived at Destination Vacation and were relieved of their burdens. When pulled from their Eden to reload and return, Pat raised the mule's prerogative and aimed a few fast ones.

Through lack of experience in the tender art of kicking, Pat scored nothing but misses—or perhaps this was due to the adroitness of his intended targets, because Pete Stine is especially quick on his feet and adept in the art of ducking.

Another "Pete" was the burro that had an overwhelming madness for Lifesavers and could be kept at a gallop for miles with one of these dainties dangling enticingly before his nose.

Frazer Dougherty and Doug Peterson had the triple-hitch duty with this stout quadruped . . . Only trouble was, they ran out of Lifesavers when the rest of the boys decided that such "food" was meant only for humans.

The next time this Sierra Madre gang takes off on such a jaunt, however, they say there will be a sack of mints labeled: "For burros only."

Community Chest Members Meet for Coordinated Drive

Mrs. Edith T. Dane, new president of the Sierra Madre Community Chest, together with several other board members, attended a meeting Thursday in the California Room of Bullock's Pasadena called for the purpose of coordinating the fall fund campaigns of San Gabriel Valley Community Chests.

Fourteen communities, including Pomona, LaVerne and Burbank, were represented by Chest presidents, campaign and public information chairmen and board members, according to George West of the Consolidated Engineering Corporation, who is chairman of the Public Relations Department of the Pasadena Chest. West also made note of the fact that this was the first such meeting to be held among Chests in this area.

Emphasis was placed on the importance and desirability of scheduling and pacing Valley Chest Fund appeals to coincide with the Los Angeles Chest Fund campaign and to benefit by its extensive promotional program through the media of newspapers, television and radio.

On hand to tell the "Los Angeles Chest story" were Linn Mowat, executive director of the Welfare Federation of Los Angeles, and Miss Cornelia Plank, director of public information for the federation.

The date for the opening of the Sierra Madre Chest Fund appeal probably will be set at a meeting of the board of directors Thursday night, Aug. 16, in the City Parkhouse.

Requests for financial assistance from Sierra Madre youth and welfare agencies are under study now by a committee headed by Albert J. Paus.

Receiving financial support this year from Sierra Madre Community Chest funds are: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Civic Club Toy Loan, Santa Anita District YMCA, Sierra Madre Community Nursery School, Family Service of Sierra Madre, and the Visiting Nurse Association.

Consolidated Promotes Hugh Colvin to Another High Post

Hugh Colvin, 336 Sturtevant Drive, vice president and general manager of Consolidated Engineering Corporation, recently has been named president of the Consolidated Vacuum Corporation, a high-vacuum equipment subsidiary of the corporation in Rochester, N. Y. He returns to Sierra Madre tomorrow after a visit of several days in Rochester.

Colvin, who is 38, also was elected to Consolidated's Board of Directors in 1955. He joined the corporation in 1947 as treasurer and assistant to the president, Philip S. Fogg.

Graduated from California Institute of Technology in 1936, Colvin joined the American Gas Association for two years as a chemical engineer before going to Harvard, where he earned his M.B.A. in the Graduate School of Business Administration.

Colvin was a chemical engineer with Wilshire Oil Company for one year, then joined the Research Division of Union Oil Company in the same capacity. He later moved into the manufacturing phase at Union Oil, and then into economics and planning. He was with the company six years.

During that period Colvin also instructed a series of courses in Industrial Management at Caltech and served as editor of the Institute's alumni publication, "Engineering and Science Monthly."

A registered chemical engineer in the State of California, Colvin is an associate member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. He is also a director of the West Coast Electronic Manufacturers Association and a member of the Committee on Government Expenditures of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Colvin and his wife, Audie Lou, have lived in Sierra Madre 11 years. Their four children are Carol Ann, 12; the twins, Barbara and Donald, 7; and Mary Alice, 3.

Political economy has been called the art of getting the most votes for the least money.

main under the provisions of the ordinance for non-conforming uses.

Fiscus admitted that no State jurisdiction governs the home now, but that application will be made soon for such supervision. A maximum of 20 girls between the age of 16 and 20 will be admitted into the home, he said.

Charles M. Schermerhorn, superintendent of the Plaza Community Center, under whose direction Mrs. Gibson operated the home, said the Bethany organization definitely does not contemplate the admission of delinquent or pre-delinquent girls. It will prevent delinquency, he said.

In a strong appeal to the City Council, Schermerhorn continued: "Their purpose is to give affection, care and security to those girls who need to know there is someone who cares. This is an enterprise that should have the wholehearted support, not opposition, of the citizens of Sierra Madre. You took the Mexican children into your homes (during Mrs. Gibson's supervision of the home), gave parties for them, and made them an asset to society instead of a liability."

"Mrs. Gilbert Woodman, president, United Church Women of Alhambra, said although her council members had not investigated thoroughly the Bethany Home for Girls, they morally supported the idea.

In the most dramatic moment of many tense City Council meetings Charleen Price, 22, said, "I am the first girl to live at the Bethany Home. I came from a broken home. I didn't know which way was up. But the Bethany Home has done more for my life than anything else in this world. I am going to give everything I have to it."

"I intend to go back to my nursing career. I'm sorry I can't see those 90 people. I wish they could be there when we sing together and laugh together. It is not as my home was."

Councilman Roberts suggested: "Perhaps there is not yet all the information at hand that we should have. I think we should be given more time for further investigation and study."

The subject was tabled for the next meeting of the Council, Aug. 23.

News of the Churches

Rev. Trotter to Dramatize 'Garden of Eden' Story

The Rev. Mark Crawford Trotter, interim pastor at the Methodist Church, has announced, lest he present a rather unexciting version of the "Garden of Eden" story as to what motion picture producers might do with the same plot, he will preach an expository sermon on the creation of man as related in the Book of Genesis this coming Sunday.

Rev. Trotter believes that the Old Testament rarely is read today for it remains a strange and confusing document to most people. In his opinion, these people resemble the character in the play, "Night Must Fall," who doubted the wisdom of a friend's suggestion that he read from the Old Testament by saying: "That's a pretty dangerous business."

Hollywood producers, Rev. Trotter believes, seem to be the only people who read the Old Testament nowadays because they have found that David, Sampson, and the Prodigal Son—if supplemented with exciting women and vista-vision—make fine box office bait.

Rev. Trotter feels that the Old Testament has many stories that have a rich message for people of 1955, in spite of the fact that these early stories are thousands of years old. Because these early narratives very often conflict with scientific knowledge, modern men have a tendency completely to disregard them. But, besides being literary masterpieces, he says, they bring us religious truth that has been applicable in every age.

The sermon for next Sunday will approach the text in Genesis with the idea that life in the Garden of Eden was the type of life that God had in mind for man. This was paradise, and it consisted of creative work, companionship, and the proper perspective of love for persons and using things, instead of the more modern interpretation of love for things and using persons.

Rev. Trotter, 695 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., has three Sundays remaining in his term of service at the church. Beginning Sept. 4, the newly appointed minister, whose name has not as yet been announced, will occupy the pulpit and assume his duties as minister.

Minister From Norway to Be Bethany Guest

Rev. Armin Gesswein, prominent minister from Norway, will preach at both the 11 o'clock morning and 7:30 o'clock evening services at Bethany Church next Sunday. His ministry has been well received in both evangelistic and conference sessions all over America and in several foreign countries. He was in Norway and participated in a most unusual spiritual awakening there.

Mr. Gesswein's work in the Los Angeles area has been of special help to ministers. He has acted as director of the Revival Prayer Fellowship, a meeting of ministers and lay leaders for spiritual inspiration and instruction.

Dr. Schaper and family returned briefly to Sierra Madre last weekend. They are at present vacationing at Big Bear Lake and will be returning later in August. The services this past Sunday marked the beginning of the pastor's third year at Bethany.

Dr. Schaper inaugurated this third year by announcing that the church now anticipates raising additional missionary funds each month for one of the couples of the church, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Moore.

The Moores plan to leave as missionaries to South America early next summer.

'YOUR HIGHEST GOAL' TO BE BARNHART'S THEME

"Your Highest Goal" will be the subject of the Sunday sermon, Aug. 14, beginning at 11 a.m., by Dr. Ethel Barnhart at the Santa Anita Church of Religious Science, 778 S. Rosemead, Blvd., Pasadena.

The moderator, William Schregardus, has called a business meeting of the congregation following the 11 a.m. service to discuss the election of a deaconess and a slight increase in the current year budget.

Penitence Question By Rev. Hesse Sunday

"Is Yours a Penitent Life?" will be the sermon theme at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning when Rev. A. Hesse addresses the worshippers at Faith Lutheran Chapel, 835 Hastings Ranch Dr.

The sermon will be the tenth and final message in his current series on the theme, "The Ten Commandments—God's Guide for Christian Life and Living." It will complement the observance of the Lord's Supper, which the congregation celebrates on the second Sunday of each month.

At 9:15 a.m. next Sunday, the sound film entitled "In His Name" will be shown to the pupils of the Sunday School departments. This family film depicts how a broken stained glass window moved a congregation to action.

Scientists' Sermon Theme To Be 'Soul'

"Soul" will be the title of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text from Psalms 35:9 reads: "My soul shall be joyful in the Lord: it shall rejoice in his salvation."

The joy of Soul is demonstrated in the healing of the man "lame from his mother's womb" who was laid daily at the gate of the temple. It is written of him in Acts: "Who seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms... Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk... and he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God." (Acts 3:3,5,8).

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy reads, "The Science of being reveals man as perfect, because the Soul, or Mind, of the spiritual man is God, the divine Principle of all being, and because this real man is governed by Soul instead of sense, by the law of Spirit, not by the so-called laws of matter" (p. 302).

Incentive for Local Artists To 'Butterup'

By HOWARD WHALEN

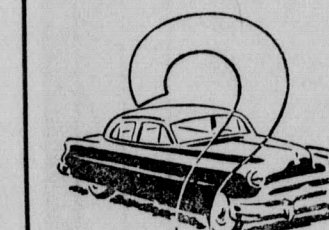

Checking the Howard Morgridge show again at the new Library Gallery is a reminder that the rest of the home town painters had better get out their "paint pots" and "butter-up" some canvases. There will be a local painting show in December at the Gallery.

There are enough good Sierra Madre painters to top off the year with a first rate exhibition, and if the past schedule of shows hasn't brought the local masters "down out of the hills" to hold their ground, the next exhibits will.

Our citizens should be pleasantly surprised at the caliber of artists who have accepted invitations to show here in the near future.

This has been one of the activities needed to jostle Sierra Madre out of its cultural lethargy. People say that this is an artists' town—but sometimes

Convention of WCTU Draws Local People

California plays host for the fifth time from Aug. 25 to 30 to the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union when its 81st national convention meets in the Concert Hall of Long Beach's Municipal Auditorium, to be attended by Sierra Madres and many others.

The convention opens at 3 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 25, with the annual worship and praise service. Mrs. Paul Halladay, national director of spiritual life, will be in charge.

At 7 p.m. a band concert by the Long Beach Municipal Band is featured with Eugene LaBarre conducting. Later in the evening the Southern California WCTU will give a reception for the delegates in the Pageant Room of the Wilton Hotel.

Friday morning the national president, Mrs. Glen Hays, officially opens the 81st convention. Friday night is Presidents' night when she will deliver her annual address.

Sunday at 12:30 p.m. the national officers will be presented on Dr. Charles Fuller's radio broadcast. Sunday night the Rev. Everett W. Palmer, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Glendale, will give a "Report on Asia."

The Golden Horizons Banquet will take place in the Pageant Room of the Wilton Hotel, featuring the Rev. Robert E. Richards, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren in Olympic pole vault champion.

The president of the Sierra Madre chapter, Mrs. Louise Weaver, will attend the convention throughout the sessions. Others from here expect to attend part time.

There is little evidence of it. There seems to be no group stimuli. An artist working in this neighborhood is doing so quite isolatedly and self propelled.

There is a good chance that the Library and its Gallery are going to be the accelerating point of a big boom in the local "culture market."

If you'd like to get in on the ground floor—catch the Howard Morgridge canvases, showing through this month. There also are some beautiful Mexican craft pieces on display in the cases, the work of Sierra Madraean Norma Chuan.

To be popular cultivate a spirit of fairness to others.

City Retirement Plan

The City Council requested City Attorney Cornyn last Tuesday to look over the contract prepared by Prudential Insurance Co. for the City employees' retirement plan.

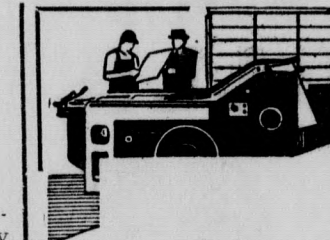

It is expected the contract will be okayed by the Council soon. Payment of premiums has been provided for in the annual budget, and tentative estimates of the costs to taxpayers are 15c per $100 property valuation for the first five years; 12c for the next six years, and 6c per annum thereafter.

Hastings Ranch Little League Indians Scalp Giants in 5th

The Hastings Ranch Little League Minor Division All-Stars came close to scoring an upset against the Indians of the Major Division of the same league. After lagging behind by four runs, the Indians came to life and pounded Hinkley, star pitcher of the Giants, out of the box, scoring seven runs in the fifth inning, before Pittman of the Seals came in to put out the fire.

The All-Stars got off to a flying start. After Rios of the Giants was thrown out, pitcher to first, Pittman walked and Cleveland (Tigers) rapped a solid double to right center, sending Pittman to third. Hinkley followed with another two-bagger to the same spot that scored Pittman and Cleveland. Hinkley scored from second when the throw-in from Right-fielder Perlin eluded Third-baseman Nagasian.

Manager Du Bois' All-Stars scored one more in the second. Rios walked, stole second and flew home on Hinkley's second hit of the game, a clean single to right field.

There was no further scoring until the fifth when the Indians' catcher Kremiller, led off with a sizzling single to right. Walks to Thompson and Carr loaded the bases setting the stage for heavy-hitter Bergholz, who promptly singled between short and third driving in two runs. Walks to Nagasian and Nichols loaded the sacks again. Carr scored on a passed ball, Bergholz advancing to third. At this point Bergholz made a daring dash toward home and succeeded in tying up the game at four-all.

The uprising continued as Perlin doubled to right center, scoring two more runs. Kremiller came up to bat for the second time in the inning and lashed another single to left, batting in another run. Read struck out to end the inning. The All-Stars staged a rally in the sixth that was short-lived when Horn was put out trying to steal home with two away and the bases loaded.

D. R. Delahooke Receives Promotion

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Delahooke, 1240 Hastings Ranch Drive, that their son, Cpl. Douglas R. Delahooke, who is serving as an operations specialist in the Headquarters Company, First Battalion, of the 32nd Regiment, in Korea, has recently been promoted to Sergeant. The Seventh is the only U. S. Army Division remaining in Korea since the cease-fire.

Ranch Writer Sells Article

"Did I Say That?" is the title of an article appearing in the August Family Circle Magazine, and the work of Mrs. Harold A. Johansen, 3775 Fairmeade.

Fact is, Mrs. Johansen said "Did I Write That?" when a friend first called the article to her attention at a party the other night. Although she has sold fiction, it was her first article, and she turned it over to her agent in New York about a year ago and promptly forgot it.

"Did I Say That?" is a humorous piece about women's wagging tongues and how they manage to give the wrong impression by saying things they don't really mean.

Take your problems to Church this week — millions leave them there!

A New Day Ahead!

These young Americans are in the "pink." They feel that the world is their "oyster" and it probably is, for they, like millions of young people all over America, are healthy, intelligent and unafraid.

They face the future with the calm fortitude of their pioneering forebears. They are living in a FREE LAND and they intend to keep it that way.

No breath of subversive propaganda, no matter how cunningly presented, will ever sway them, nor will they allow its evil influence to mar their lives, for they have confidence in themselves and their country, and faith in the Will of a Divine Providence.

Each Sunday you may see them in church, for it helps them to strengthen their faith—their faith in their God and their Country. Too, it helps them to visualize that people of all ages, races and creeds are gathering in all the thousands of churches all over the country; each and every one a paramount symbol of a true Democracy.

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in this space.

GARDEN NOTES

SUMMER LAWN CARE

Summer is the time when a lawn is enjoyed the most—and also the time when it requires the most care. In ordinary circumstances your grass lawn will need mowing weekly along with the proper amount of irrigating and feeding and a constant program of pest and disease control.

Consider first, says the California Association of Nurserymen, the subject of irrigating the lawn during summer. Much damage can be done if too much or too little moisture is provided. Many gardeners do not realize that few soils are able to absorb water rapidly. For instance, a lawn sprinkler applies water at the rate of one inch an hour—this is too much for the soil to absorb. Two methods can be applied to avoid improper irrigating. Let the sprinklers operate until the water runs off; then turn them off for a while and repeat the process several times. Or use a porous hose or soil soaker which keeps the soil continuously wet but doesn't cause runoff.

A good rule of thumb to apply in lawn watering: your lawn is ready for water when it loses its resiliency—when it fails to spring up after you step on it.

If a soil is very compact it will not absorb moisture readily. You can eliminate surface compaction by a slow soaking of the soil, stimulating the growth of grass with fertilizers, mulching with surface soil or suitable compost and mowing less regularly. If the soil is very compact you may need to use some sort of tool—an aerator for a very large lawn area, a corer or a hollow-tined fork—or in some cases certain garden sprays will make some soils take moisture better.

In mowing the lawn you should use a mower with adjustable blades. For home lawns a five-blade mower is most commonly used, a six- or eight-bladed one for bentgrass. A helpful procedure in mowing is to rake the lawn first to remove sticks and litter and also to lift long shoots so that they can be trimmed neatly. Then mow both lengthwise and crosswise for a smoother appearance. In general a home lawn can be cut a little longer than other types—a golf turf, for instance. Clippings from mowing may be left on the lawn during dry weather—they will dehydrate quickly and add to the organic matter in the soil.

There are three rules to follow when applying food for your lawn: (1) do not apply too much fertilizer at one time; (2) spread it uniformly; (3) apply it when the lawn is dry and water immediately afterwards.

Fertilizers can be applied in dry or liquid form—nitrogenous chemical fertilizers are most commonly used but organic fertilizers such as cottonseed meal, dried blood, alfalfa meal are also very beneficial. They release nutrients slowly and steadily over a long period of time while the chemical fertilizers act faster.

Generally it is best to apply dry fertilizers with a spreader—otherwise your lawn will be green and tufted in spots.
